THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The President's message was delivered before Congress on Monday. It is not generally favorably commented upon by the press.
One of the most important matters now agitating the public mind is the transfer of the management of Indian affairs from the Department of the Interior to the War Department, but the President dismisses the whole Indian question in a few brief sentences. He is opposed to the proposed change, but offers no reasons in support of his opposition. In this regard, unless the signs of the times are misleading, he will find public opinion against him. The President has not modified his views regarding the importance of agriculture. He justly remarks that "it is the leading interest and the permanent industry of our people." The Globe-Democrat says for this and other reasons he is in favor of a liberal appropriation to enable the optimistic Le Duc to grow tropical fruits in the Upper Lake region, and to introduce the reindeer and Esquimaux dog as beasts of burden in the cotton States, instead of the genial but acclimatized mule.

LEADVILLE'S PERIL.

The following from the Leadville Reveille speaks for itself:

The question of freights, in view of inadequate railway facilities and the probability of severe storms, is alarming. It matters not what view is taken of the question, the same gaunt skeleton form presents itself, and the business men of Leadville cannot do otherwise than apprehend serious consequences if the much needed transportation is not speedily furnished. The effect is already visible, and when the thinking business man is confronted with the incontrovertible fact that our smelting companies, the leading adjunct of the chief industry of the State, are now paying fifty dollars per ton for coke; and the combination entered into by freighters, who haul coke from the end of the track, but refuse in some instances to load with bullion, for less than $15 per. This is distressing in the extreme, and one of the large establishments in the district has upwards of ten car loads of bullion awaiting shipment. At the end of the track the merchandise awaiting transportation is simply enormous, and it is safe to assert that at least one-third of the freight which is being transported by wagon is coke and one-third hay and grain, and there is not three days' supplies of these articles in store. The supply of flour on hand yesterday, in the event of a storm, would not last quite two days, and unless the much needed relief is afforded by way of the Arkansas valley, it is quite probable that a number of our smelting establishments will be compelled to suspend operations for a time at least, until the embargo is removed.
Should this occur it will throw out of employment at the least calculation 1,500 men who are now employed at various smelting establishments in the city.

To which the Pueblo Chieftain adds: In face of these facts there is one paper published in Denver selfish enough to desire the indefinite postponement of a settlement of the question of a railroad up the Arkansas.
Everybody, except Jay Gould and the Denver News, wants the water line route, that will always be open, built at once.

There is a good supply of coal in Dodge City, but the Hays Sentinel has this to say:
"There is a coal famine, reaching all over Western Kansas. The coal dealers say they can not possibly supply the demand, on account of striking miners and snow blockades. There has been no suffering; but the supply in Hays was reduced to five tons at one time. It seems to us as though our dealers should go to Osgood and Fort Scott for a supply."

Lightning will strike again soon. Just have patience.

Lane & Samuels is the style of a business firm in Silver Cliff. Both members well known Dodgeites.

The family of Dr. Dickinson, late State Librarian, will receive $2,350 from the Odd Fellows benevolent association.

Gen. Jeff. C. Davis died of pneumonia, at Chicago, last Sunday afternoon. He was a brave and gallant soldier and his death is a serious loss.

Two wagon loads of buffalo meat were recently brought into Stockton. The buffalo were killed in Colorado, forty miles from the Kansas line.

The Salina and Council Grove papers are making wry faces over the purchase of the Missouri Pacific by Jay Gould. It has killed the Salina extension scheme.

Several Larnedites are going to Leadville in the spring. Among those who will go are named W. A. Irvine, D. B. Christy, Nelson Adams, J. W. Morris, E. A. Moorehead and Chas. Grabe.

A late ruling of the Postoffice Department requires that the County as well as the Postoffice and State be put on the address of a letter. If this is not done your correspondence will be sent to the Dead Letter office.

There was a monstrosity born in Chase county, a few days ago, in the shape of a child with a frog-shaped head. From the neck down the child was perfectly formed, but above the shoulders it looked like a frog's head.

It is stated on the best of authority that the agreement between the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the St. Louis and San Francisco, and the Chicago and Alton, provides for an early consolidation of the three lines. This will virtually make Chicago the eastern terminus of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, with its trio of Pacific routes.

A SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT.

The dinner and social entertainment given on Nov. 30th, by Mr. and Mrs. John Mueller, in celebration of the pater familias birthday anniversary, and in compliment to John McShelton, who had finished his apprenticeship with Mr. Mueller; and also to J. George Deiter, who has removed, was a most enjoyable affair, which will be long remembered by their many friends who were invited to partake of their hospitality.

Among the guests were J. H. Kelley, A.
B. Webster, W. Straeter and wife, Henry Sturm and wife, Fred Singer and wife, R. G.
Cook, C. M. Graybill and many others too numerous to mention. At 4 o'clock the party sat down to a magnificent dinner, the table being loaded down with an abundance of delicacies and luxuries, which together with the variety and excellence of the refreshments, was worthy to be relished by the most fastidious gourmand and epicurist. After dinner the two bright children of the hosts, Miss Emily and Master Henry, entertained the guests with several comic songs, and surprised them at the pleasing manner and splendid style in which they acquitted themselves of the task. The evening was spent in merriment and social games; and when the hour of adjournment finally had arrived the guests parted with the best and most sincere wishes for the future happiness and prosperity of the hosts, hoping that they may be permitted to celebrate many more happy anniversaries like this one.
